Come and celebrate the treaty banning cluster bombs!

- Bring a drum or a percussion instrument (even a cooking pot and wooden spoon will do!) and join in the drumming session
- Watch a special preview screening of a new 20-minute film on New Zealand's role in the cluster bomb ban
- Have a chat with the film-makers and campaigners over a hot chocolate

From Afghanistan to Laos to Lebanon, cluster bombs have harmed and killed too many civilians, but through the 2008 Convention on Cluster Munitions this weapon has been banned, land being cleared, and victims helped. August 1st marks the historic day when this new treaty takes effect, becoming binding law in New Zealand and around the world. Help us launch the first in a series of actions worldwide to welcome in the ban!

Kids of all ages are welcome to join in the drumming and other kid-friendly activities!
